

Rioja Gran Reserva Dinner at Tribeca Grill

Dear Members:

The wines of Spain are now receiving professional attention for their complexity and value. Through the generosity of Lisa Carley, Ambassador of Rioja Wine, we are going to explore the great Rioja Gran Reservas. Many are surprised at the quality of mature Gran Reservas. Come judge for yourself. All of the wines will be at least ten years old.

The complexity and flavor of these wines requires pairing with appropriate food. We were fortunate to learn that Drew Nieporant, friend to several of the Society's members, and his chef, Steven, have traveled to Barcelona to learn the techniques that have made the new Spanish chefs the stars of the culinary world. They have created a special menu for our dinner at Tribeca Grill to match the Gran Reservas. With Lisa Carley describing each wine maker's philosophy and the concepts of the pairing, this will be a uniquely educational experience that will enable you to become familiar with the value and quality of these wines.

Come taste these wonderful mature wines and see how they match the delicious cuisine. After a reception with passed hors d'oeuvres, our dinner will include red wine braised octopus with chorizo, potato and cabbage; quail stuffed with porcini mushrooms, marcona almonds and dried figs; braised pork shank with fresh bacon, tomato and saffron; and a selection of artisanal cheeses including San Simón, Zamorano and Cabrales.

We would like to thank Chairman Robert Gutenstein for his work on this event. Please join us for an event that may open your eyes to the pleasures of mature Rioja Gran Reservas.

Sincerely,

Ira Greene
President
